Physical Description : 4590 Allen Road is a two story, three bay wide, early nineteenth-century farmhouse remodeled ca. 1990 with wood shingles with a side-facing gable roof. The first story of the façade has a main entry door with basic surround in the center bay, two double-hung one-over-one windows in the west bay and one double-hung one-over-one window in the east bay. There are two wall-dormers projecting from the second story into the roof, each with one one-over-one double-hung window. Stone foundation, shingle siding, asphalt shingle roof. The 1987 one story attached garage projects off the east elevation with a side-facing gable roof. There is one non-historic door at the west end and two non-historic overhead doors to the east. The one-story rear addition has a shed roof.

Significance:

Date of Construction : ca. 1827

Architect/Builder :

Statement of Significance : Although the property does not retain sufficient integrity for individual listing in the National Register , 4590 Allen Road is locally significant as an early-nineteenth century rural residence in the Town of Canandaigua. It is a well-preserved example of late 19th century vernacular architecture. Here Robert Saunders of Connecticut had settled in 1795. Mr. Saunders was a prominent farmer and had two sons; one of them, Harvey Saunders, was a physician. Later known as lot #54 where J.P. Faurot lived for forty years. Faurot was a local lawyer and prominent politician.

Physical Description : 2291 Brace Road is a two-and-one-half story, two bay wide, farmhouse with a Queen Anne style form and minimal or obscured architectural detailing. It has an L-shaped cross-gable roof and a two-story enclosed side wing addition. The south facing elevation is the primary façade. The west half of the façade has a front porch with a hipped roof supported by two square posts. One door and one double-hung six-over-six window flanked with decorative shutters beneath the porch and one double-hung six-over-six window on the second story. The east half of the façade projects out with a front-facing gable roof bay and a two-story three-sided oriel bay with a hipped roof. Two double-hung six-over-six windows in the middle bays flanked by one double-hung six-over-six windows in each side bay of the oriel. One double-hung window on the west elevation of the bay. The west elevation has two double-hung windows on the first and second floors and one double-hung window in the gable peak. A modern chimney rises from the ground to above the ridge line. A two-story, two bay wide, enclosed addition with a side-facing gable roof projects out of the east elevation. The south elevation has one large picture window, one non-historic door, and a ribbon of three casement windows on the first story and two double-hung one-over-one windows on the second story. The other elevations are not visible. Stone foundation, vinyl siding, asphalt shingle roof. There are four separate barns and outbuildings. Two metal framed pole barns, one wood gable roof barn, one wood gambrel roof barn, multiple silos on lot.

Significance:

Date of Construction : 1870

Architect/Builder :

Statement of Significance : Property needs more investigation to determine if NRE since there is some loss of architectural integrity; it is significant at the local level for its connections to an important farming family in the Town of Canandaigua. It was constructed ca. 1870 for B. S. Brocklebank and is still owned and operated by the same family. This property is protected from future non-farm development under NY State's Purchase of Development Rights (PDR) Farmland Protection Implementation Grant program.

Outbuildings/Landscape Features :

Major Alterations :

Physical Description : Small plot of land known as Cooley Cemetery. Grave sites as old as 1816 include local community members and Cooley Family. Graves laid out in clusters with no trees or walkways. Perimeter of the lot is lined with trees.

Significance:

Date of Construction : 1816

Architect/Builder :

Statement of Significance : Known as Cooley Cemetery, it was created during Lyman Cooley's lifetime (one Lyman Cooley lived 1850-1917, died and was buried in Chicago; his grandfather Lyman Cooley was born in 1792, in Canandaigua by 1820, and died in 1849). Stones include 1829 and 1816. First reference to this plot is in 1879. "Twenty-four rods of land set apart by Lyman Cooley in his lifetime as a family burying ground." It is the smallest of the town's cemeteries holding just 5 stones. Stones include Shaw 1829, and Sheldon 1816. Maintained by the town. Although this small burial plot retains the headstones for the five burials it contains, it does not rise to the level of significance for NR listing. It is locally significant as an example of a small, rural family burial plot.

Physical Description : Two-story, two bay wide, Italianate style house with later Italianate features; hipped roofs and full-width front porch with a low-sloping hipped roof supported by four square, turned, posts with decorative brackets. Non-historic front door at the east end of facade and two double-hung one-over-one windows in the center and west ends. There are three double-hung one-over-one windows across the second story. There are double-hung windows throughout the east and west elevations and a one-story side porch addition on the east elevation with a secondary entry door. Vinyl siding, concrete foundation, asphalt shingle roof. This property appears to have been altered early on. Historic records indicate its construction around 1830, before the Italianate style became popular. The parged foundation also appears to be covering a stone or other rough material. Given the likely construction date and its form, this may have originally been a modest Greek Revival home that was later altered with more Italianate features.

The north elevation has one double-hung window on the east end and one double-hung window in the gable peak. A one story enclosed side wing projects out of the west half of the elevation with a side-facing gable roof and double-hung windows on each side. Cobblestone siding with four rows per quoin on front, three rows per quoin on south wing, and stone quoining at each corner. Mortar is vee'd in continuous horizontal bands. Some wood siding in additions, fieldstone foundation, wood shingle roof. Two-story, three bay wide carriage house with a side-facing gable asphalt shingle roof. The first story is fieldstone siding, the second story is vertical wood siding. Each bay has one non-historic overhead door on the first floor and fixed-four-pane windows on the second story.

Significance:

Date of Construction : 1837

Architect/Builder :

Statement of Significance : 3402 County Road 16 is architecturally significant as a distinctive example of a cobblestone residence that retains integrity, even with changes that occurred over time. It is also significant for its association with Isaac Parrish, the first pilot of the first steamboat on Canandaigua Lake, the "Lady of the Lake." He's also the son of famed Indigenous interpreter, Jasper Parrish. Addition on the back was built as a "honeymoon cottage" at the turn of the 20th century. The house is reported to have been a stop on the Underground Railroad and has a secret room on the second level. The home operates as a Bed & Breakfast.

Physical Description : Two story, three bay wide Classical Revival style house with a front-facing gable roof, two enclosed two-story side-wings, two story addition, and a partially enclosed full-width front porch. The façade of the primary massing of the building is two-stories tall with an exposed basement level. The basement level has two exterior staircases that rise up in a Z-shape to the middle of the second story. The basement projects out in the middle to create a landing for the staircase above. Below the landing is an enclosed entry with a non-historic front door with a one-pane sidelight. The second story has a partially enclosed porch with a low-sloping hipped roof supported by two square posts at each corner and two square posts spaced evenly apart in the middle. The openings are screened-in with thin wood framing and a screen door between the two middle posts. Beneath the porch is the main entry in the middle bay and two pairs of full-height arched double-hung windows on each end bay. The second story has a tripartite window in the middle bay and two double-hung twelve-over-twelve windows on the end bays. The tripartite window is made up of one twelve-pane window flanked by two narrow three-pane windows and non-historic shutters. The north and south elevations each have a two-story enclosed side-wing with a low, side-sloping shed roof, and two double-hung one-over-one windows flanked by decorative shutters on the first and second stories. An enclosed, two-story addition projects off the south elevation of the south side-wing with a low side-sloping shed roof. There is one, large, multi-pane window on the first story and two double-hung windows on the second story. There is an enclosed addition on the rear of the building. The side elevations are not visible. Wood siding, concrete foundation, asphalt shingle roof. The lot slopes down from the west to east, towards the lake with the road running perpendicular through it, separating the lot with the Yacht Club building with the marina.

Significance:

Date of Construction : 1848

Architect/Builder :

Statement of Significance : Although the property does not retain sufficient integrity to be National Register eligible, it is significant at the local level as moderately intact example of an early-nineteenth century high style residence that retains its overall form. The property is also locally significant for its association with the Canandaigua Yacht Club and historical use as a farm. The clubhouse is originally the Chamberlain House that has its own significance associated with previous history. Known first as the Canandaigua Sailing Club, Canandaigua Yacht Club was organized in 1891, and built its first clubhouse near the city pier in the city of Canandaigua, where it operated for a few years before going dormant. When it was revived in 1930, it was based at Booth Cottage, four miles south of the city of Canandaigua on the west side of the lake. The club moved to Menteth Point in 1933, then across the lake to Thendara in the town of Gorham in 1935. Finally, in 1939, the yacht club moved to its present location in the former Chamberlain house at 3524 West Lake Road.

There is a non-historic front door with infilled sidelight beneath the porch, one pair of casement windows with historic shutters in the north bay, and one double-hung one-over-one window with historic shutters in the south bay. This is one fixed one-pane window in the gable peak and each wing wall has a pointed arch opening. There are two eyebrow dormers with four-pane webbed half circle windows projecting out of the side-facing gable roof behind the dominant gable bay. The north elevation has one double-hung window on the west half of the first story and one double-hung window in the gable peak. The one-story enclosed side wing projects out of the east half north elevation with a side-facing gable roof. There is a secondary entry door and double-hung windows. The south elevation has two double-hung windows on the first story and one in the gable peak. The east elevation faces the lake. There is a full-width one-story porch with shed roof supported by three pairs of square posts. There is a non-historic door and two, large, full-height picture windows beneath the porch and four double-hung windows across the second story. Wood siding, concrete foundation, asphalt shingle roof. One-story, one-bay wide, open boat house built on piers over the lake with a front-facing gable roof supported by three square posts on each side and wrapped with a knee-wall. Wood siding, asphalt shingle roof.

Significance:

Date of Construction : 1929

Architect/Builder :

Statement of Significance : Property is significant at the local level as a rare remaining example of a lakefront cottage in the Town of Canandaigua. Due to development pressure generally facing lake cottages, this property may be at-risk.

Physical Description : Photos available taken by Town of Canandaigua Tax Assessor. One story, arts and crafts style, one-room schoolhouse with a hipped roof and off-centered front porch. The porch is on the south end of the façade with a front-facing-gable roof with open underside and crossbeam rafters, supported by two square posts with knee-braces, and wrapped with a vertical spindle balustrade. There is a historic front door and one oval window beneath the porch and a ribbon of four eight-over-five double-hung windows across the north half of the façade. The north elevation has a secondary entry and one double-hung eight-over-five window. The south elevation is not visible. The west(rear) elevation has another secondary entry door and one fixed window. Wood siding, concrete foundation, asphalt shingle roof.

Significance:

Date of Construction : 1906

Architect/Builder :

Statement of Significance : 3650 County Road 16 is potentially eligible for listing in the National Register under criterion C as a well-preserved schoolhouse from the early twentieth century. It is locally significant for being the Former District 9 schoolhouse; last rural school in operation in Canandaigua; a model school when built. Town Owned. This is the second district school located on the site. The first was built in 1819. The present building was built in 1906 and the schoolhouse became the "finest" rural school in the state according to the NYS Commissioner of Education. #9 School was presented as a model of how rural schools can be modernized. Currently used for arts and crafts classes for children in the summer months.

Physical Description : Two-story, two bay wide, Colonial Revival style house with a side-facing gable roof. The façade has a non-historic front door in the middle of the first story, topped with a wide-band entablature. The north and south bays each have a tripartite window made up of one large picture window flanked by two double-hung one-over-one windows and decorative shutters and topped with a fabric awning. There are four double-hung one-over-one windows with decorative shutters across the second story. The south elevation has a brick chimney in the middle, rising from the ground to above the ridge line. There are double-hung windows throughout the north and south elevations. A two-story addition projects off the west(rear) of the building with a hipped roof. There is a porch in the south-west corner with hipped roof supported by one square post at each corner and arched openings. A garage addition abuts the rear of the building with a side-facing gable roof and double-width non-historic overhead door. Wood siding, concrete foundation, asphalt shingle roof. One story, one bay wide shed with a side-facing gambrel roof, one pair of side-hinge doors, and two double-hung four-over-four windows. Wood siding, metal roof.

Significance:

Date of Construction : 1880

Architect/Builder :

Statement of Significance : Although the property does not retain sufficient integrity for National Register listing, it is associated with a prominent farm family, the Sutherlands. The house was built by Josiah Sutherland c. 1830; Sutherland Farm, later known as Edgewater Farms, a 140-acre dairy farm. This was the original house and became a tenant house when owners (Benhams) built larger house at 3740 West Lake Road.

Physical Description : One story, five bay wide brick municipal building with classical features. The building has two primary sections at the north and south. The north half of the building is original with a cross-facing gable roof and is three bays wide, each bay separated with brick piers and lined with brick corbels. The middle bay is the dominant bay with a front-facing gable roof with cornice returns and a brick corbel-lined cornice. The bay is divided into two with brick piers. The north bay has a non-historic over-head door with stone lintel and the south bay has a pair of casement windows with a stone sill and lintel. Each bay north and south of the entry has two casement windows with stone sills and lintels. The south half of the building is two bays wide with a side-facing gable roof with cornice returns. The north bay projects into the building with vertical wood siding and a historic front door flanked by two sidelights and topped with a four-light transom. The south bay has a tripartite window with stone surround, made up of a thirty-six-over-forty-eight pane window in the center flanked by two brick piers and two twelve-over-twenty windows. The south elevation has a pair of commercial doors on the first floor and rectangular metal vents in the aluminum sided gable peak. The north elevation has two openings infilled with brick on the first floor and an infilled arched opening in the gable peak. Brick and stone foundation, asphalt shingle roof. Two-and-one-half story, two bay wide, American Four square house with a front-facing gable roof and a full-width front porch. The porch has a hipped roof supported by three Tuscan columns and wrapped with a vertical spindle balustrade. There is a front door and one double-hung one-over-one window beneath the porch and one double-hung one-over-one window on either side of the porch on 45-degree corners of the first story. There are two double-hung one-over-one windows with decorative shutters on the second store and one double-hung window in the gable peak with pent roof below. The side elevations have double-hung windows throughout and one secondary entry door on the ground level of the south elevation. Vinyl siding, stone foundation, asphalt shingle roof. Two-and-one-half story, one bay wide, front-facing gable barn with one double-hung one-over-one window on the first story and a diamond-shaped four-lite window in the gable peak. The north elevation has a pair of barn doors on the first story and a hay-loft door on the second story. Vertical wood siding, asphalt shingle roof.

Significance:

Date of Construction : 1895

Architect/Builder :

Statement of Significance : 3772 County Road 16 is architecturally significant and National Register eligible as a distinctive example of a Classical Revival style brick municipal building. It is significant at the local level under the architecture and community development themes as an intact late-nineteenth to early 20th century municipal building as well as its historic association with the municipal development of the town of Canandaigua. Contributing buildings on the property include the plant operator's house and barn, both constructed near the same time as the plant. The south side addition to the historic plant and the main treatment plant to the west are non-contributing structures, built in 1978-79.

Physical Description : Two-and-one-half story, three bay wide, Italianate style house with an off-centered cross-gable roof with off-centered front porch. The dominant half of the house is to the north with a front-facing gable bay. The façade has the main entry on the south end of the dominant bay with a historic pair of French doors with arched windows and topped with a transom. There two double-hung two-over-two windows with historic shutters on the north half of the dominant bay, three double-hung two-over-two windows with historic shutters on the second story, and one circle window in the gable peak. The porch projects over the main entry and extends across the full width of the south half of the house and has a low-sloping hipped roof supported by four square posts with decorative brackets and fabric awnings and is wrapped with a vertical spindle balustrade. The south half of the home has a side-facing gable roof, two double-hung two-over-two windows on the first story and two double-hung windows on the second story, each with a pair of historic shutters. The east and west elevations have double-hung windows throughout. There is a two-story addition on the west(rear) side of the house and a one-story addition with side-facing gable roof abutting the south-west corner. The addition has a shed-roof porch supported by two round posts with connecting lattice forming an archway, a non-historic door beneath the porch flanked by two sidelights, and two double-hung six-over-six windows with non-historic shutters. The south end of the addition is the garage bay with two non-historic overhead doors. Wood siding, concrete foundation, asphalt shingle roof.

Significance:

Date of Construction : 1873

Architect/Builder :

Statement of Significance : Although the property does not retain sufficient integrity to be NRE (due to non-historic siding, replacement windows, and a large addition), 3860 County Road 16 is locally significant as a example of a late-nineteenth century residence that retains some Italianate stylistic details. It is also locally significant for its association with a prominent sheep farming family, the Wolvertons. Built for the Wolvertons ca. 1873, the property was in the family for 3-4 generations. There is a gambrel roofed barn & tennis court on site, visible from Wyffels Road. The original c. 1900 barn burned to the ground in the 1930's and was rebuilt on the same foundation.

Significance:

Date of Construction : 1910

Architect/Builder :

Statement of Significance : Property is historically significant at the local level for its connections to the Nott family, an important farming family in the Town of Canandaigua. It was constructed ca. 1910 for the Nott family, who operated the Ida Canfield Farm, or Idlenot Farm- a successful grape and fruit farm as well as goats, sheep, hay, and other grains. The steamboat shop at the bottom of the hill at Tichenor Point served as transport for their products. The home was built for Charles and Minerva in 1910 by Mr. Roy Poole for total cost of $2505.64. They picked the plan out of the Radford Architectural Company book of plans. The main barn burned down in 1937/38. Two car garage and large family room on the south side of the house were added on between 1974-1980's.

Physical Description : This property is not visible from the public right-of-way. Photos available taken by Town of Canandaigua Tax Assessor. 4645 County Rd 16 is a two-story, three bay wide, Arts and Crafts style lake-front home with a cross-gable roof. The west elevation faces the road and is not visible. The east elevation faces the lake and is two-stories tall with an exposed basement level. The first story is covered with a porch with hipped roof, supported by seven square posts and wrapped with a vertical spindle balustrade. The porch wraps around to the north and south elevations. Beneath the porch is a pair of French doors in the middle bay and a pair of double-hung one-over-one windows in the north and south bays. An open, front-facing gable bay projects out of the second story over the porch, supported by six square posts on a half wall with screened-in opening. The gable roof is lined with a vertical spindle spandrel with finial. There is one double-hung one-over-one window flanking the middle bay on both the north and south end bays. The basement level is flush with the porch and has three one-pane fixed windows. The north and south elevations are not visible. A staircase climbs from the lake, uphill to the wrap-around porch. Wood siding, metal roof.

Significance:

Date of Construction : 1880

Architect/Builder :

Statement of Significance : This property is eligible for listing in the National Register under criterion C. It is significant as a rare example of a historic lakefront cottage that appears to retain a high degree of integrity. Originally a fruit storage barn, later converted to hotel annex then cottage use. Wood and earthen pier at lake level is a remnant of the steamboat docking site for farm use period. A 19th century grape barn with a steamboat dock and evidence of a fruit elevator turned to a classic Canandaigua cottage at the turn of the 20th century and named Red Cedar Lodge. It was purchased in 1910 by Thomas and Cora Hewitt to be used as a summer resort as a dormitory and staff residence for the Walterita Hotel down the hill on the north edge of Menteth Point. Central fireplace was constructed in 1916.

An exterior stairwell climbs along the north elevation from the lake level to the first story of the cottage. There is one historic entry door and one double-hung window along the north elevation of the first story. The deck from above the boat house wraps around to the north elevation and extends along the east elevation of the second cottage on the property. Vertical wood siding, stone foundation, asphalt shingle roof. One story, two bay wide, lake front cottage with a side-facing gable roof and enclosed side wing. The west elevation is below street level and is not visible. The east elevation is visible from the lake. A partially enclosed porch projects out of the east elevation with a shed roof supported by three square posts with screened-in openings between them. The south elevation has a secondary entry door on the porch end and fixed windows throughout. The north elevation has fixed windows throughout and a one-story enclosed entry wing projects out of the west half with a shed roof. Vertical wood siding, asphalt shingle roof. One story, one bay wide lakefront cottage with a side-facing gable roof. There is a ribbon of three casement windows on the west elevation, one nine-pane fixed window on the east (lake side) elevation, one fixed window on the north elevation, and a partially enclosed porch on the south elevation, spanning the width of the cottage. The roof above the porch is supported by four square posts with screened-in openings between them. Wood siding, asphalt shingle roof.

Significance:

Architect/Builder :

Statement of Significance : 4828 County Rd 16 is architecturally significant as a distinctive example of an Italianate style residence. It is locally significant under both the architecture and agricultural themes as it retains sufficient historic integrity as a well-preserved example of a late-nineteenth high-style rural residence in the Town of Canandaigua and is also an intact farmstead with extant farmhouse and barns. Town of Canandaigua map of 1859 shows the Barnard Gelder family as owning this house and farm, along with two other farm sites (one on west lake road and the other up Deuel Road). Italianate built prior to 1868. Carriage house/barn on property possibly as old as the house with two wings were added in the 1960s. Entire structure was repaired/rebuilt in 2006-7 to serve as the family garage. Evidence that the home was reconstructed at some point as fireplaces don't add up to foundation chimney walls.

Physical Description : 4965 County Road 16 consists of 80 acres of land split along County Road 16 with 7 acres on the east(lakefront) side of the road and 73 acres on the west(uplands) side of the road. The 7 acres of lakefront has eight cabins, two lodges, one hall, one bath house, and two pavilions. The 73 acres of uplands property has seven cabins, one hall, and three pavilions.

Significance:

Date of Construction : 1890-1919

Architect/Builder :

Statement of Significance : This property is significant at the local level under the agriculture and recreational lake themes for its history as a farm and for being a well-preserved residential lakefront cottage park in the Town of Canandaigua. Onanda Park, historically known as "Shale Rock Farm" on Bell's Point, was purchased in 1872 by William Lewis Foster and the point became known as Foster Point. Shale Rock was also known as stop #24 throughout the steamboat era on the lake. Foster died in 1911 and the Shale Rock home was rented by the YWCA as a place where members (adult working women) could rest and enjoy recreational activities. YWCA purchased the Shale Rock Farm in 1919 with 27.5 acres from the W. L. Foster Estate for a permanent camp. Camp Onanda opened in 1920. They later purchase 47 acres more in 1954, known as the Donn property, and in 1955 a fund raising campaign was approved to modernize the camp. Camp Onanda closed in 1989 and the property was purchased by the town and state for public park use. The property is now town owned and used for year-round recreation.
