

February 18th – Oak Wilt Workshop

- Who: All interested community members
- What: A workshop designed to introduce oak wilt to the community, a plant disease recently found in Canandaigua that causes rapid death of oak trees.
- Speakers:
 - Karen Snover-Clift, Director of the Plant Disease Diagnostic Clinic of the Department of Plant Pathology at Cornell University
 - Mark Gooding, Department of Environmental Conservation's Regional Forester in the Division of Lands and Forests
- Where: Seneca Art and Culture Center, auditorium (7000 Boughton Hill Road / Victor, NY 14564)
- When: 1pm-2:30pm, space reserved until 3pm for informal questions
- How to Register: Can register with Whitney at Whitney.Carleton@parks.ny.gov, walk-ins still welcome.
- Cost: None, but please pre-register
- Attendees Should Bring/Wear: Any questions about oak wilt in general or their specific properties.