Henning Ammunition LLC is a manufacture of precision loaded ammunition. I run the company out of the basement of my house because of this the state requires a outdoor magazine storage for the smokeless powder. I am licensed by the state and federal government to manufacture ammunition in the State of New York. The building was built to Federal guidelines using code rule 39 and regulations 27 CFR, part 555 K meaning the building was built to the specs of the state and federal government guidelines. The building was existing which is a pole barn style construction I poured concrete floor and added walls with 12 inch on center studs plus it has 1 inch solid oak boards as sheathing the inside walls as to code. The door is a high security with 12 solid stainless steel rods that activate with a key to lock the door which is more than code requirement. By code it says I can store up to 5,000 pounds of smokeless powder. At any given time, I have 5 to 600 pounds of powder in the building and I only see me storing up to 2,000 pounds in it in the future. As for the business, all of my sales are done offsite at gun shows or gun shops. I do not allow customers at my house. Deliveries on average are 1 to 2 week by UPS or FedEx. I do not have any commercial tractor trailer deliveries. I've talked to both of my neighbors, they both know what I do and what the building is used for and they have no problem with it. For security, I have cameras all around the house, in the basement and on the magazine building.

Sincerely,
